

LANDSCAPING FOR WILDLIFE WITH NATIVE PLANTS

Dr. Chris Moorman, North Carolina State University Extension Specialist in Urban and Forest Wildlife

Join North Carolina Cooperative Extension and the Catawba Valley Master Gardeners Association at an educational presentation during which you will learn the basics of managing both the enjoyable and pesky wildlife that can be attracted to your backyard. You will also learn why gardening with native plants is one way you can help both your garden and the Earth!

DATE: April 12, 2007

TIME: 10:00 am – 12:00 pm

PLACE: Catawba County Ag. Resources Center
1175 S. Brady Ave.
Newton, NC 28658

COST: FREE!! *Dozens of native plants will even be given as door prizes!

TO REGISTER: Call 828-465-8250 if you are not a member of the Catawba Valley Master Gardeners Association so that we may ensure sufficient seating.